

Better fleet utilisation for HealthCare New Zealand

Healthcare providers HealthCare New Zealand had a large fleet of vehicles spread across New Zealand, making it difficult to manage where these vehicles were, or how they were being used.

Since investing in Argus Tracking in 2019, Healthcare New Zealand has revolutionised the way they run their fleet, improving health & safety and administration as well as gaining the in-depth knowledge of their fleet utilisation that they needed to reduce their fleet costs and size.

Now with Argus Tracking providing visibility across all their fleet, HealthCare New Zealand have been able to re-distribute vehicles that were previously being underutilised to the facilities most in need of vehicles, ensuring they are getting the highest utilisation out of the fleet they are currently running, without having to lease more expensive vehicles like they previously needed to.

As well as the cost savings gained by redistributing their fleet, there has also been a reduction in administration costs and time for the organisation. Prior to implementing Argus Tracking, HealthCare New Zealand's compliance reporting was done via excel and paper-based systems per area. This made it near impossible for the fleet manager to have an overview of all their assets and have the confidence the data they were receiving was the latest updated details, as well as being very time consuming.

Since using Argus Tracking, fleet administration time has been significantly reduced, allowing staff more time to use their skills in other areas. It is now easy for the fleet manager to ensure the fleet is compliant at all times, and HealthCare managers across the country can now update all their vehicle details within the Argus Hub so that the National Fleet manager can easily view all 365 assets nationwide within the one easy to use system.

During the COVID 19 lockdowns in 2020, Argus Tracking proved to be invaluable to HealthCare New Zealand. With the Argus platform easy to use from home and on mobile devices, managers found Argus Tracking easy to use for contact tracing and to ensure all staff were safe and compliant during this critical period, giving them one less thing to worry about during a stressful time.
